Winery Profile

This fine Chianti is produced by the Castellani brothers in Tuscany, Italy. Roberto and Pier Giorgio Castellani have been producing wine for many years. You might liken them to the Gallo brothers. One brother is responsible for the production of the wines and the other handles the administrative chores. These two polite Tuscan gentlemen combine their talents to form an unbeatable team. The operation is quite large, one of the biggest in the Chianti region. They continue to offer the traditional packages from the region, like the Tuscan straw flask, long abandoned by most other producers.

Chianti DOCG

We offer this Chianti in the traditional Tuscan flask. Originally, laborers would tie the strings from the flasks to their belts in order to have their libation along with them during the long hot work days. Recently the flasks have all but disappeared as labor costs to make them have become prohibitive. Amadeo Chianti is light to medium bodied with traditional Chianti flavors. Keep the bottle and melt a candle in it for a taste of old time charm and romance!
